BECAUSE THERE IS NO PLACE LIKE HOME

For some working from home may be a simple everyday routine/task, whereas for others it might mean finding oneself in a completely new reality. No matter if you work full-time or part-time from home, it is very important to separate the work space from the rest of the home and make your life more comfortable.

ABSTRACT ENERGY

Bold patterns and punchy colours inspired by abstract expressionist artwork create fun, free-spirited interiors trend. The purpose is to evoke emotion and create a mood with bold geometrics, hand-drawn sketches and playful blocks of colour. This trend allows you to be daring with colors, even with combinations – try burnished red with navy or mustard with mauve. It perfectly demonstrates the artistic flare of this new trend and embraces the tactile details, popular from the past season.*

STRUCTURED SIMPLICITY

The structured simplicity aims to create an understated approach to interiors that reflect a peaceful and inviting space within your home in order to help unwind and regenerate. The colour scheme focuses on soft and warm neutrals rather than bright colours. Different textures will add some interest and the use of raw materials will create a sustainable feel. This trend creates a calm, comfortable chilled out space for you to sit back and relax.*

ECO-FRIENDLY BIOPHILIC

Bejot draws much of its inspiration from BIOPHILIA - a concept which refers to our human attraction to nature. Of course, biophilic design goes further than just adding plants to your home, i.e. it also focuses on improving airquality, acoustics and thermal comfort in rooms. This trend is more than aesthetically pleasing too, as studies show that incorporating natural elements into your environment can help to reduce stress and blood pressure, as well as improve productivity and wellbeing.

REFINED GLAMOUR

This is 2020's bold, confident and sassy take on the glamour trend. Taking it up a notch this trend is a grown-up look that channels Thirties sophisticated elegance with a little Seventies-style. Pick rich tones for key pieces, such as royal blue or ruby, mixed with warmer tones of ochre, rose and bronze. Layer on the bling with lashings of metallic touches – think gleaming gold, burnished copper, brushed brass and bronze.*

HOW TO WORK FROM HOME: 5 TIPS FROM THE BEJOT TEAM

In the midst of the new coronavirus pandemic, many companies are implementing voluntary or mandatory work-from-home policies. That means lots of us are dealing with an unusual challenge: working from home for the first time, full-time. Below, we've compiled a bunch of great work-at-home tips and tricks from our Bejot team.

Choose a dedicated work space.

Just because you're not working at an office doesn't mean you can't, well, have an office. Rather than cooping yourself up in your room or on the couch - dedicate a specific room or surface in your home to work.

Structure your day like in the office.

To stay on schedule, segment what you'll do and when over the course of the day. If you have an online calendar, create personal events and reminders that tell you when to shift gears and start on new tasks.

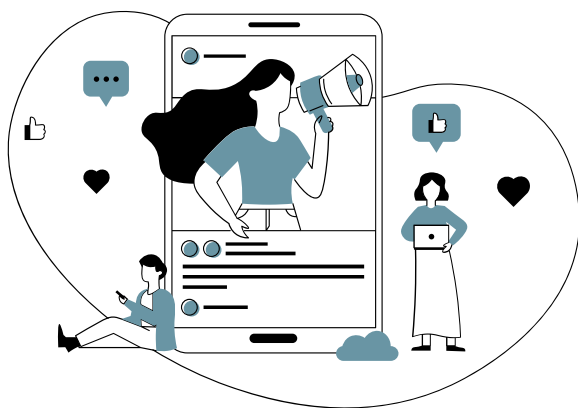

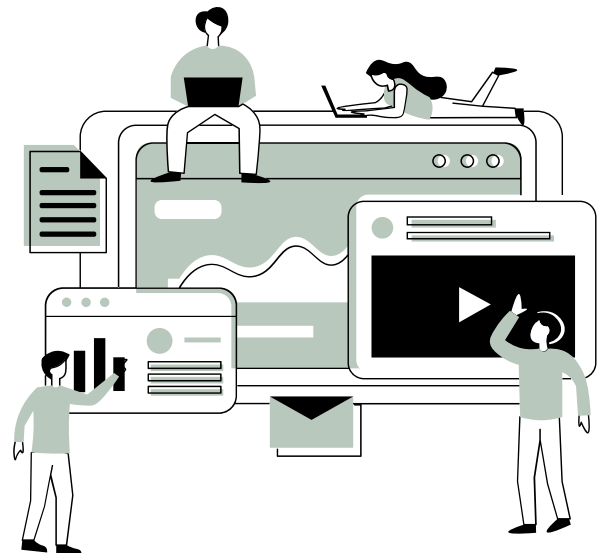

Work when you're at your most productive.

To capitalize on your most productive periods, save your harder tasks for when you know you'll be in the right headspace for them. Use slower points of the day to knock out the easier, logistical tasks that are also on your plate.

Use technology to stay connected.

Working from home might help you focus on your work in the short term, but it can also make you feel cut off. Instant videoconferencing tools can make it easy to check in with coworkers and remind you how your work is contributing to the big picture.

Make it harder for yourself to mess around on social media.

To counteract your social networks' ease of use during work hours, remove them from your browser shortcuts and log out of every account. It's a guarantee that you won't be tempted into taking too many social breaks during the day.
